

20th Century Fox is one of six major American film studios. The company consists of film and television franchises with film sets and production offices across the USA.

vUnity solves connectivity challenge with modern bonding solution.

The Challenge

20th Century Fox needed internet service at its newest location and it needed it yesterday... but the site is 10,000 feet from the Central Office and only standard DSL service was available. Fox needed something faster than DSL and turned to a new technology for high performance internet service.

Solution

vUnity provided it's Bonded DSL service (vUnity Elite) which was professionally installed in four days. A full 20Mbps of high speed internet service was delivered which included standard 24x7 support and built in failsafes.

Visit www.vUnity.com to learn how the team can help your business.

“I’ve been looking for a technology like this forever.”

- Dean Richman
Systems Engineer
20th Century Fox